Chamber. G. I. Tarnley, Intendant. Dan. L. W. Grant, Joe S. Montgomery, Councilmen.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved.

Resolution—the ordinance in regard to municipal affairs was laid on the table.

Resolved—that thanks of this body be given to the REPUBLICAN office for publication of one hundred copies of ordinances, also free of cost.

a very few years, produce a resulting revenue to the public treasury, that will realize to every citizen a pecuniary benefit, in the general reduction of the public tax.

Believing the superior advantages of said plan over any other, yet suggested, will readily present themselves to every thinking mind, I beg leave to lay it before you for consideration, and would suggest, that, if you consider it a wise and judicious plan, you lay it before the people, whose servants we are, and leave it for them to say whether it is to their interest or not; in which event, should they approve it, we have their moral sanction and encouragement, at least, should they disapprove it, the responsibility is lifted from our shoulders, and assumed by themselves.

The first proposition of the plan is—1st. That the town be supplied with water brought from the mountain, by means of suitable piping, emptying into a reservoir, suitably prepared, on the Nibber hill.

2nd. From thence lay a main pipe of proper size, leading through the public square, from which parties desiring may obtain water for private use, by means of small piping to be inserted under direction of, and a permit first obtained from the proper authority.

3rd. Let a sufficient number of hydrants be erected at the most suitable points, for protection against fire, which can also be supplied with water from the main pipe through the square.

4th. Supply the necessary houses and fixtures for attaching the same to the hydrants in case of fire.

5th. Let the hydrants be kept closed, and under the special charge of the proper officer to be designated by the council, and the water therefrom only used for public purposes, in case of fire.

6th. Proposition is that the water thus brought, the reservoir, and of course the lot upon which it may be located, together with the piping and all necessary fittings be purchased for, erected by, and belong to the town of Jacksonville, and be styled the "Jacksonville water works."

3rd. Proposition is, that the Marshal by virtue of his office, become keeper of the water works, and selling the water to parties desiring it, pay the revenue so arising into the public Treasury. To do this, will require several thousand dollars, as to which, various estimates have been made, of from three to eight thousand; but as it is generally conceded, I believe that five thousand dollars will be sufficient. For the sake of the calculation we will take that amount as the probable cost.

As there is not a sufficient amount of money in the Treasury, of course we should adopt some plan, for raising the necessary means, without burdening our selves with an special levy of tax, and as the most practicable mode now occurring to my mind, I would suggest that we issue bonds of the corporation, no bonds to be for less than fifty dollars, the total amount issued to be, say five thousand dollars. Let the bonds become payable, two thousand dollars at three years, and three thousand at five years, or earlier at the option of the council, bearing eight per cent interest, payable semi-annually, the bonds and interest coming, to be receivable in payment of any dues owing to the corporation. "As to the sale of the bonds, with the sanction and approval of the citizens, I feel assured that negotiations for the necessary amount can be effected."

However, we should not only consider whether we can effect a sale of the bonds, but we should first see clearly the way for meeting the semi-annual payments of interest thereon, and finally the principal due respectively at three and five years. As a means for that purpose, I would suggest as follows:

The Treasurer, informs me that this year we can spare from the present assessment of tax, Six hundred dollars. This amount will enable us to meet the first three payments, two hundred dollars each of interest due on the bonds semi-annually, the last payment occurring at the expiration of eighteen months. The Treasurer further says, that each year after this, we can spare one thousand dollars. The water works order at least be completed, or in running order at least by the first of the second year, and from the various estimates of net revenue resulting therefrom, I think we may safely calculate upon a revenue, five hundred dollars per annum from the sale of water, which with one thousand from the tax, at the expiration of the second year, when the fourth installment of interest becomes due, gives us fifteen hundred dollars, two hundred of which meets the interest then due, and after retaining two hundred more for the fifth payment, leaves eleven hundred dollars for payment on the principal which reduces it from five thousand, to thirty nine hundred dollars.

The interest then accruing at the next payment, will only be one hundred and fifty six dollars, after discharging which with the two hundred hitherto retained for that purpose, we have on hand a balance of forty four dollars. At the expiration of the third year, we again have one thousand dollars from the tax, and five hundred from the water, which with the balance of forty four, gives us fifteen hundred and forty four dollars after meeting the interest, and retaining one hundred and fifty dollars for the next installment, we have from that amount twelve hundred and thirty eight dollars, which discharges the balance of the principal—nine hundred dollars due at three years, and gives us three hundred and thirty eight dollars for payment on the principal from three thousand, to twenty six hundred and sixty two dollars. The interest on the next installment, will be only one hundred and six dollars and forty eight cents, which we meet with the one hundred and fifty dollars already retained, and yet have forty three dollars and fifty two cents left us, which with one thousand from the tax, and five hundred from the water, at the expiration of the fourth year, gives us fifteen hundred and forty three dollars and fifty two cents. With this we discharge the interest then accrued, and retaining sixty dollars for the next installment, we have thirteen hundred and eighty seven dollars and ninety six cents. The interest next accruing, fifty one dollar and forty cents, and the balance of principal will make a total indebtedness of thirteen hundred and thirty six dollars and thirty six cents, due at the expiration of the fifth year; to meet which we would have the sixty dollars hitherto retained, one thousand dollars from tax, and five hundred from the water, which added gives us fifteen hundred and sixty dollars which discharges the total indebtedness, and the balance principal and interest due on the bonds, and leaves still on hand two hundred and twenty three dollars and sixty four cents.

The town would then have a property in the water works unencumbered, that any event must be worth from twenty to thirty thousand dollars, and yield annually a sure and handsome revenue. The advantages we may well expect to accrue are many—aside from the luxury of baths and water closets, and the material benefit of good free-ice water for washing and drinking purposes, those who wish them can procure servants more easily and for less wages, and the benefit and blessing arising from the labor saved, and convenience afforded the weary wife and fragile daughter, who either from choice or necessity, do their own work, is incalculable. The business man is also incalculably benefited by the water in the consequent reduction of insurance, which at present rate, can scarcely be secured only by a few, and in case of fire, one who feels his business would still not justify his insuring, would feel comparatively safe, with these and many other advantages, the real estate of the town will certainly increase in value a handsome per cent, and last but not least, the pecuniary benefit of the revenue resulting from the sale of water as already remarked, will be realized equally to every citizen, in the general reduction of the public tax, and with the common interest thus united, success will attend the effort.

On motion Council adjourned until next regular meeting.

JOE S. MONTGOMERY, Sec'y.

Call and see W. T. Alexander's last arrival of choice Confectioneries.

The Concert.

According to announcement, the young people of Jacksonville, on Tuesday evening last, at the College building, had their concert, for the benefit of the Baptist church. The audience was large and appreciative. To say that the affair was merely a success does not describe it. It was a surprise—a delightful entertainment—a complete and perfect success. We would like, if we had the space, to particularize, especially with reference to the parts sustained by the young ladies, who without exception acquitted themselves admirably; but as we have not we will make no particular mention. "The Music was excellent, and the Tableau, Charades and Plays well chosen, and the audience went away perfectly satisfied. The net proceeds of the exhibition will be from $65 to $70. More would have been realized, but for the fact that the company was put to much expense to fit up the stage, which was tastefully and beautifully decorated. Too much praise cannot be awarded the young people who have, at great trouble and some expense to themselves, thus realized to a good cause a sum that it would have been rather hard to have raised by subscription. There was nothing in the whole performance that could have shocked the moral sense of the most religious, and we think that we might more frequently resort to such means for the purpose of raising funds for worthy objects without any justifiable prejudice attaching.

Fresh Confectioneries, just received by W. T. Alexander.

The print of THE REPUBLICAN is not so good this week as we desired it to be, owing to the fact that our roller became too soft to work well. We have sent for another and can promise better print as soon as it arrives.

Choice country and sugar cured Hams just received by W. T. Alexander.

On Wednesday during the storm, the lightning struck the Express wagon, tearing off the rim of the seat. It then leaped from the wagon on to the back of the horse, completely unripping about four inches of the backband of the harness where it was sewed together. No other damage was done to the wagon, and the horse did not receive any injury—not even a shock sufficient to make him run away. The lightning also struck a pine tree on the street between Mrs. Martin's residence and that of Rev D. F. Smith.

Fine lot of Western dried Beef, received by W. T. Alexander.

Draper & Johnson have a large supply of corn which they will sell at the lowest market price.

All kinds of fancy Candies received by W. T. Alexander.

The Messrs. Rosenberg have opened up a fine stock of Goods in Jacksonville, which they propose to sell cheap. They occupy the store north of Hammond's Hotel.

All kinds of Jellies & Brandy peaches just received by W. T. Alexander.

The Tournament.

Mr. Eddon—It was my good pleasure to attend the Tournament, near the residence of Capt. Bush, on Saturday the 28th ult. To say that it was a success is not enough. It was a grand success. At an early hour the field was thronged with many of Calhoun's fairest daughters and quite a number of untutored ladies to either see their daughters crowned or their gallant sons win the prize—all of which some of them did see. I also noticed a goodly number of elderly gentlemen (I presume they came to get their dinner) as also quite a number of young gentlemen, I presume they came to see their sweethearts crowned, to be seen of them and get their dinner. All of which some of them did. Maj. Tom Clements, mounted on a superb charger, was field Marshal of the day. The gallant Knights were also well mounted, to contend for the prizes, which consisted, first of a splendid Photograph Album; second a handsome crown, and third, a beautiful wreath. The Knights were as follows:

James Bush, Knight of Cane Creek; Tom Pelham, Knight of Alexandria; Tom Weir, Knight of Calhoun; Willie Griffin, Knight of Alabama; Tom McAuley, Knight of Oxford; Jim Williams, Knight of Cherokee; Willie Glover, Knight of Dark Corner and Vince Weir, "Night before last." Now came the contest, and right gallantly did they contend. There was horsemanship and speed exhibited that would lead one to believe that our boys had been cavalry service and knew a good horse when they saw one. They rode five times each and were cheered on by the bright smiles and sly glances of their sweethearts (and our's too). The contest ended at one o'clock and the result was announced by the Marshal as follows: 1st prize, "Night before last"; 2nd prize, Knight of Cane Creek; 3rd prize, Knight of Calhoun. The Knights then proceeded to deliver their prizes to the fairest among the fair, as follows:

1st, the Album to Miss Jennie Shield; 2nd, the Crown to Trudie Hudson; who was present under the escort of Mr. Jimmie Farmer of your town; 3rd, the Wreath to Miss Willie Vasey—all with appropriate little speeches and responses—after which it was announced that dinner was prepared at "sister Bush's Springs," whither we all repaired at once, and found a long table spread under the beautiful old oaks, on the grassy lawn, near the spring. The table was literally groaning under a most sumptuous repast—such an one as only the good matrons of old Calhoun can prepare. We noticed in the course of the meal, that "our mutual friend," Capt. Bush, was fond of Irish potatoes as well as the ladies. He even endeavored to capture some of the young ladies from the gallant young men; but in this, we are glad to say, he was not successful. Some of the married gents, too, noticed, half-hearted some anxiety, lest he should rob them of their wives. Dinner over, the young people proceeded to enjoy themselves as only young people can. It was not mistaken many sweet smiles and glances were exchanged and many hearts made glad. Thus ended the day and long will it be remembered by.

D. K. T.

P. S. It should be mentioned that Johnnie C. was there with his harp, and his "mules" high on.

Geo. White was also on hand with a supply of lemonade.

In answer to our call last week on the good people of our town for the number of boarders, if any, that each family could take for the Summer months, we have said not a word. We hope that all who can take boarders will report to us, before our next publication. Their names will not be published. We only want to arrive at something like the number of boarders the town can accommodate, and publish that.

We have received the proceedings of some more of the chaplains of the 10th Ala. Regiment, but they came in too late for publication last week, and as the delegates meet here to-day, we think their publication useless now.

First Dramatic Session in Gadsden.

On the morning of the 25th inst. a "so called" notified our citizens by poster that he would hold forth at the Court house at 10 o'clock P. M.

During the day the "so called" had a report generally current that he had a letter of recommendation from Rev. Dr. J. W. Williams, and that he was a member of the New York Board. He then notified the boys to keep regular, and commenced what he termed "shake person readings from the play, of 1919, also, bed chamber scene." His efforts were entirely satisfactory to every true-hearted gentleman. Any one of them on application would have furnished a certificate that the "so called" had either acted as Porter, Page or scene shifter, in some theatre in the eastern cities in short the so called was a plodder. The best part of the performance was the businesslike manner in which the would be show man passed round his hat.

Gadsden Times.
 Our rival neighbors of Gadsden are enterprising, business-like and very clever in their way, but they seem to have no appreciation of the fine arts—especially of the dramatic art. Recently a Shakespearean reader from England undertook to entertain them with a recitation of the closing scene of Othello. It was too intellectual and refined for the Gadsden taste. The few "travelled gentleman" present turned up their noses at it, talked about Forest, Booth, &c., and the multitude joined in the chorus. A magic lantern or a "Calcium Stereopticon" in which a prominent literary and commercial gentleman of Gadsden not long since engaged and which he made a success, is better adapted to the taste of that community.

We have received from Capt. Wright, the energetic proprietor of the Steam Saw Mills, 8 1/2 miles north of our place, a lot of the largest beets of the season. One is about ten inches in circumference and another about one half foot in length.

Our young people will give another entertainment to-night, for the benefit of the Graveyard. They will present an entirely new programme, with the exception of "Toodles," which will be reproduced by request.

The young ladies and gentlemen who gave the concert, charade and tableaux entertainment on Tuesday night last, in the Chapel of the Calhoun College, for the benefit of the Baptist Church, tender their sincere thanks to the citizens of Jacksonville, and vicinity for the large attendance and good order of the occasion.

Francis & Woodward, Jacksonville News Agency, has laid us under obligation for the last copy of Little's Living Age. Thanks young gentlemen.

Nobody has set a day for the clearing off of the graveyard. We cannot suppose that our people are indifferent to the appearance of the place where our "dead and beautiful rest." Let us turn out and fix it up. Somebody suggest a day through the next Enterprise.

Among the Indians.—Lieut. Herdon tells us that no tribes of Aborigines are found in the deepest forest of South America, from the Andes to the Atlantic coast, that do not have some kind of corn, yuca, and sweet potatoes. "Ternut," "Mafuk," "Boat" are seen stamped in large and small letters upon their garments, while Ayer's Pills and Cherry Pudding are among the treasures of the habitations. Their native soil furnishes them all their food and most of their remedies, but their sufferings from some ailments which must have the interpretation of higher skill. [Sentinel, Liberty, Va.]

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1869, it was provided, to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publica tions, of any and every character required by law to be made in his County, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county;" and in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, did heretofore designate the "Star of Calhoun County," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character, re

County of Calhoun should be published, said designation to remain until recalled or chang ed by me.

And the "Jacksonville Republican" being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act, I therefore recall and change my order desig official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republi

all legal advertisements, notices or publica tions of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published. This designa tion to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican con tinues said paper so as to be within the pro visions of said act.

NEAR CEDAR BLUFF, S. C.
Messrs. J. & S. BONES, Dear Sirs:

I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemens) bought of you, a thorough trial, and but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear which which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind out 100 bushels of in seven minutes. I find no trouble to do my grinding but on the contrary, my neighbors were present at the time, and all were struck with the noise were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so little time. I prefer the noise to my steam mill now. The 25 inch mill bought for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally sa tisfying. It is a complete mill.

Upon all machinery sold by us we give a full guarantee. Yours and

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE.—The Jan-

The table of contents presents also twenty excellent articles, in which the constructive and the amusing receive equal attention. "The Political Future,"

"Europe" is a masterly synopsis of present political tendencies in Europe; the poem of "Ginx's Baby" treats us to "The Solutions of a Great Problem." The essay is a very fine critical essay on "Mr. Pennyson's Poem;" and besides the above, there are, "A Week in Paris after the Peace," "Modern St. Pauls," "A Missionary Run," "Change and Progress in Japan," "Rome under the New Regime," "The Dutchman at Home," "The Author of 'That Heathen Chinee,'" and "Jim neys in Central Africa." The Editors' Departments are, as usual, full of miscellaneous information of all sorts. "Patty," the new story, becomes more interesting with every instalment. Published by E. R. Pelton, 108 Fulton Street, New York. Price $5 per year; single copies 45 cents.

A "SECOND JOINT."

"Aw, I Beg Pawdon."

The latest story that is going the rounds here is told of one of the second joints, as the Secretaries were called to distinguish them from the High Joints. This was

It seems that this English spring of nobility was invited to pass some days at the country house of a wealthy American, and late at night, before retiring, concluded to take "a bath you know," and so, directed by a servant, he found his way to the bath room, and turning on the warm water, was soon enjoying the full length the delicious souse of an entire relaxation of his aristocratic

Unfortunately, the daughter of the house also concluded to take a dip in the tub, and, not knowing what their illustrious guest had in store for her, she, in her nightgown, ran hurriedly along the hall for fear of meeting some one, and, starting into the bath room, closed the door.

"Aw, I beg powdon."

She screamed a scream—I indulge in no exaggeration when I say that that girl screamed a scream of the first magnitude, and then she screamed another scream, as if her confusion, she turned the key in the wrong direction, and she did not open the door; between each scream the languid voice exclaimed:

"Aw, I beg pawdon."

After sixteen screams, any one of which would have rivaled a locomotive's she succeeded in opening the door and fell fainting in the erms of her frightened papa. The noon as pater familias could rely himself of his nude daughter, he struck his paternal head into the bath room, and wanted "Jo" to what in the h—l was the matter.

All he could get in reply was:
"Aw, I beg powdon."

Most young men consider

...a misfortune to be born poor, or not to have capital enough to establish themselves, at their outset in life, in a good comfortable business. This is a mistaken notion. So far from poverty being a misfortune to them, if we may judge from what we every day behold, it is really a blessing. The chances are more than ten to one against him

General Grant has appointed a son of Brigham Young a cadet at the Military Academy at West Point, excluding the son of the late General Thomas Francis Meagher whose selection was asked first through their representatives, by the whole Irish-American population.

tion of the country, without distinction of party. "No Irish need apply!"

One of our contemporaries, speaking of a prominent Radical, says: "He was last in war, last in peace, and first in the pockets of his countrymen."

Messrs. J. & S. BONES, Dear Sir:
I have given U. 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and as but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running gear for my mill, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the water) in eleven minutes, I had no trouble to do my grinding before breakfast. Several my neighbors have been present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result. We were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short time, I prefer the meal to any steam mill meal. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfac tory. It is a complete mill.

(From the Courier, May 13, 1871.)

In our advertising columns will be found the announcement of a grand gift enterprise, in which the amount of half a million dollars will be distributed by the South Carolina Land and Immigration Association.

The importance of the object of the Association should recommend the enterprise to every citizen of the State, and the inducements which are offered are such as to tempt everyone. The price of tickets is only five dollars, and the holder of one of them will receive the Academy

It probably is not surprising that the building command high rates: the saloon and store has now and card tables have tenanted. The Halls above are in constant demand, and the theatre is by far the showplace in the town. The theatre is the only place where it draws that prize will secure a fortune. The second prize, though less valuable, will be enough to satisfy the most grasping. One hundred thousand dollars is the prize for the first prize, a large number of other prizes are to be given, varying from $25,000, $10,000, $5,000, $1,000, &c., amounting to over 2,400 gifts.

H. Bost, the honest, brave, manly and popular gentleman, who never knew fear, and whose character stands without reproach.

In addition to the high tone, character and ability of these gentlemen, the other subalterns are drawn around the scheme, which would recommend it to the most skeptical, as will appear by the

It is not supposed, in view of all that has transpired, that Jefferson Davis will be a victim. His friends are not surprised to hear that he has been settled at Atlanta, Georgia, in a public speech that "nothing can yet always be triumphant."

Let us hear nothing, you must do nothing, even though tyrannical oppressors, grievously upon you. Forbear for a season, and a day will come when all will yet be well. The Gazette considers his language, above quoted as of very "solent importance," and commends it to both sides. It is a pity that the Gazette and Northern men how they like it. We should judge, from such talk on this part, that it supposed that Northern men were natural-born fools. Nobody on our side would be so stupid as to be so pleased with existing state of things, that he will not cherish the hope that in the future there will be an improvement in Cincinnati Enquirer.

JACKSONVILLE, ALABAMA.

SATURDAY, JUNE 17, 1871.

Maj. Carlisle & the Gadsden Times

We were pleased to receive, on Wednesday last, a call from Maj. Hugh Carlisle, the present manager of the Gadsden & Gunterville Rail Road. Mr. Carlisle thinks he has not been justly dealt with in an article which appeared in the Gadsden Times in connection with Col. Pennington's letter, relating to the Gadsden & Gunterville Railroad. He claims (and we can substantiate him in part) to have done more for the road than any other man. He has spent thousands of dollars in his laudable efforts to attract the attention of capitalists to his road. He has made three trips to Montgomery and remained months each time, at his own expense, to secure legislation advantageous to the road. The first time, he succeeded in getting the State to waive the claim against the road, in favor of the 400 bonds. On his second trip, he succeeded in getting the State to donate five miles, failed only by one vote, and that was lost through the zeal of a friendly member who supposed the bill had been lost and on that account changed his vote from "yea" to "nay" for the purpose of moving a reconsideration, thus himself defeating the bill intentionally. He has made two trips to Washington in his efforts to have Congress revise the original land grant to the road, staying weeks at a time and spending on one trip over seven hundred dollars out of his own private purse. The last time he went, he would have secured his object, but for the puppy Warner, who by the grace of bayonet rule, set himself up in Washington as representing the interests of Alabama. Week after week this creature Warner would state off the bill, until finally it was called up against his will, or during his absence and passed the Senate by a large majority. It did not pass the House, however, because Warner had managed to delay it until too near the end of the session; so it died with the session. He is just now returning from New York, after being there and in Pennsylvania two months, in his endeavor to attract capitalists to his road. While absent, he secured the promise of Mr. G. H. Ames, the former Chief Engineer of the road, that he (Ames) would visit the road on the 18th inst. and bring a lot of capitalists with him. He is now on his way to Opelika, to see if he can effect any arrangement with Col. Pennington or Col. J. by which the road can be built. He has at a sacrifice, neglected his legitimate business and devoted himself, for two years, wholly to this enterprise. True he controls a majority of the stock in the road, but much of it he worked for ($20,000) and much of it he has paid for, in the dollar bar. Having such interest at stake he is of course more interested in putting the thing through than any other man can possibly be. Yet, his critics, who so far have failed to show their faith by their works, (words are cheap) becoming impatient because the road is not hurried to their doors without an effort on their part, hurl epithets at him; because he does not choose to surrender his right and title in the road to the first man who comes along and says "stand and deliver!"—no matter whether that man is able to build the road or not, after it is surrendered to him.

The article complained of also reflects on Judge Wythe, the venerable President of the Road, who, next to Carlisle, has done more than anybody for it. Anybody that knows Judge Wythe, will know that he is incapable of entertaining any sentiment in conflict with the public good, much less of deliberately perpetrating a wrong on the public by playing "dog in the manger." He is too pure and good a man for that. The figures of the Gadsden Times man are also wrong, we are informed, though of this we have no personal knowledge.

We advise that Maj. Carlisle be given time. He is more interested in having the road built than any of us, and of course will have it done as soon as he can see a chance. His interest and the interest of the people along the line are identical, and what he does for himself will redound equally to the benefit of us all. We advise the Gadsden man to possess his soul in patience and put a bridle upon his tongue, or rather "dry up" the ink on his pen, until he can show that he has done as much for the general good of the road as Maj. Carlisle has. Would he surrender without compensation, at least to the amount of his investment? No. Then neither should Maj. Carlisle be required to do so.

Stanton's Men Resist the U. S. Marshal.

A Clear Case of Ku-Klux Outrage.

Some days ago Gen. Hensley, a U. S. Marshal, seized a train of cars on the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad and telegraphed to Stanton that he would bring it on to Chattanooga. The two temporary Assignees of the Road, appointed by U. S. Dist. Judge Busted, were also aboard. Before the train reached Chattanooga, it was stopped and boarded by about seventy-five of the employees of the Road, who informed the U. S. Marshal that he and his party should proceed no farther in the direction of Chattanooga. The Marshal informed the party who he was, and was met with the reply that he did not care who he was—he was, he could not go to Chattanooga on that train. A creditor of the Road who happened to be on the train, made them a speech, in which he convinced them that their interests would be best subserved by allowing things to take their course; and finally the whole concern went into Chattanooga together, the Railroad employees dispersing among their fifteen hundred companions that Stanton now feels there at his own expense. Some of the men who thus engaged in resisting the process of a U. S. Court, are, we venture to say, from Boston and "hell."

Stanton had the train attached on its arrival in Chattanooga.

The above facts we learn from a gentleman on route from Chattanooga to Elton; and we publish them without vouching for their accuracy, though in the main we have no doubt but that the story is true.

GADSDEN.—Last week, in company with a friend, we made a visit to our flourishing neighboring town of Gadsden—"Gadsden on the Coosa." The people as usual had on high pressure and were striding along the streets as briskly as if business was ever so flush—maybe it was. To omit the mention of meeting old and warm friends, we will speak something of the "material resources" of the town. In the first place, it wears more of the city than any place of its size we have ever seen.—Gadsden is a precious child—a very lively infant. In the second place, its pretensions to the claim of being a city is better founded than of any interior town we know. The lumber business of the place is destined soon to enrich it both in money and inhabitants.—Enterprise is rife and generosity is the distinguishing mark of her citizens. While there we took a stroll among the brickyards, of which there is a number, and the saw mills, of which there were "not so many as you heard there was." We first passed through the big mill of Hand & Turner, where they can turn out vast quantities of lumber, shingles and lathes daily. It had the ear-warks of Yankee enterprise, and was altogether creditable to its founders; but we could not help thinking they had overtaxed their engine. After being very courteously shown through this establishment we turned our steps to the mammoth mill of Mr. Collier. We found not so many modern appliances in this establishment, but equally as much enterprise. We could not help thinking that Mr. Collier was right in not too heavily taxing his engine. His manner of managing his belt gearing, we preferred to that of Major Rand. We thought we could see the same difference in the two that there is between the over-shot and under-shot wheel—the water power being the same. Mr. Collier has already turned out thousands upon thousands of feet of lumber, which now lie awaiting shipment; and in addition he is erecting another engine for another mill beside the one he has. After "interviewing" these two establishments we asked for the "other five"—"there were seven" we said. "Oh, they are over the river." "Over the river? How far over the river? Any of them in Jacksonville?" we enquired. "They are just scattered around over the other side generally," was the reply, but we didn't see but two, and of them only have we spoken.

Gadsden was in an agony of excitement, as we left, over the announcement that Stanton was running all his rolling stock from off his road and that the trains would cease running for an indefinite length of time. Wisdom brought the news. He came in at a swift run, his anxious looks were all discolored and he presented generally such a courier-like appearance as we have not seen since the war.

"Why what in the world is the matter Wisdom?" we said rather excitedly.

"They've stopped 'em!" floated back to us on the ambient air as he rushed frantically from block to block to spread the dire intelligence. Then loud wailing and lamentation went up from Gadsden. Herzberg refused to be comforted—until they brought him a glass of—cold, cold water. Woodliff was heard to exclaim in most tragic tones, "A horse! A horse! My Kingdom for an Iron-horse,—to get all my lumber off to market." Kyle lifted up his voice and wept; because his greenbacks were not. Col. Hart had known an exactly similar circumstance that had occurred in Kansas, when he was there. Hollingsworth scowled fearfully for a few moments, thrust his hands fiercely through his raven locks, looked at his Road account, shook himself savagely and hauled. Dr. Howell remarked "Well I declare, gentlemen! It is very strange! Did you ever hear anything like it? Well I'll declare!" Col. Sam Henry knew it was going to come all the time; but as nobody had asked him about it, he had been keeping it a secret to himself. By gosh! sir, he could have told you though. He Moragne did tell 'em; but nobody would listen to him, and "now you see, sir, they had a better done what I told 'em." Randall looked down pensively on his new cloth boots, that he bought on his recent trip North, and whistled a melancholy cantata. Joe Francis twitched nervously while at his short tailed coat that he had bought on the same trip, and appeared much east down. Gradually, however, as visions of possible pickings in such a vast lawsuit as was to follow, flitted across his mind, his face assumed at first a christian resignation east, then a more than satisfied appearance, which broke into a broad grin as he made his way to his office to record the "calamity." Gen. Turnentine and Rev. Mr. Timmons when last seen were perusing, with heads close together, the pages of the Book of Job. At this stage of the game the picture became too painful to contemplate. The whip cracked; our horse started, and we left Gadsden—"Gadsden on the Coosa," with a thousand regrets that this world was not all Gadsden—the Gadsden of happier days.

P. S. We forgot to remark that Folcher keeps the best Hotel in the State and is altogether the most accommodating landlord we have ever spent a day with. We advise our friends to put up with Folcher when they go to Gadsden.

CALHOUN COLLEGE.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of Calhoun College, last week, the following excellent Faculty was elected:

GEN. WM. H. FORNEY, Pres. of the Board of Directors and ex-officio Pres. of the College.

A. W. RICHARDSON, A. M. Prof. of Mathematics &c.

COT. S. FORTUNE, Prof. of Ancient and Modern Languages.

Other chairs to be filled.

The first term will commence on the 28th of August, 1871. Prof. RICHARDSON is a graduate of the University of Alabama, class of 1843, and has been teaching for a number of years. He is highly spoken of wherever he has taught and we have no doubt but that he will give entire satisfaction to our people.

Col. FORTUNE is a teacher of large experience and reputation. He has built up several fine schools in Georgia, that stand to-day as monuments of his ability in his profession. He is a thoroughly educated gentleman, and one of the most polished men it has ever been our good fortune to meet.

As necessity may require other teachers will be added, until all the chairs are filled. Meantime Prof. RICHARDSON and FORTUNE will attend to every department.

With such a fair start as we now have, a first class College can be built up in our midst in a comparatively short time. Let us all unite heartily in the cause, and push forward the interests of our College with might and main.

Next week, when we have more time, we shall say more of the College—the building—the location—the health of our place—the society—the general advantages Jacksonville possesses as an educational point, &c.

It is a noticeable fact that the same bitter feeling between the North and the South that existed before the war has, of late date again developed itself, regardless of parties. If we may judge by the utterances of the New York World and other Democratic papers, there is no line clearly defined in this country but Mason & Dickson's line. The sections blazoned by hate of each other, cannot distinguish party lines. While we know that the two peoples are as far removed from each other in sentiment, education, feeling and custom as are the North and South poles; yet we cannot account for the long true since the war between the Northern and Southern Democracy, and the sudden breaking of it, on the eve of an important Presidential election. Have we traitors in both camps? If not why this banishing of epithets? Why this stirring up of strife now?

NEW YORK, June 14.—Noon.—Cotton steady; middling uplands 20; Orleans 20½.

THE YOUNG MEN WHO ARE IN DANGER.—Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage delivered an address at the meeting of the New York Men's Christian Association, in which he, in the following sentence, truly depicted the class of young men who are in danger in all large cities, and who most need the care and protection of Young Men's Christian Associations and kindred organizations.

"There is only one class of young men who are safe without any effort on our part. They are the sour, sallow-faced men. Satan would not know what to do with them if he had them. He would be afraid of their disputing his kingdom with him. It is the generous young men, the large-hearted, social young men who are starting in life with a magnificent cargo of hopes that we want. The young men who are empty of heart and life need no Christian association. They will never drink, unless somebody treats them. They will never gamble, save with some one else's money. They are too mean to go to perdition, unless somebody pays the way for them."

NEW YORK, June 13.—Greely had a grand reception from the Republican committee last night. He re-asserted his intention to do his duty, even if it involved the White House responsibility. He spoke in severe terms of the Ku-Klux, which, said he, the Government ought to extirpate at once and forever; and in severe and more sarcastic condemnation, denounced the theiving carpet baggers, who plunder and prey upon the negroes and poor whites, while pretending to be anxious for their education and salvation of their souls. He said these were the greatest obstacles to Republican ascendancy in the South, and so he denounced them.

CHATTANOOGA, June 14.—A committee of creditors are in conference with Mr. Stanton, to consider the affairs of the Alabama & Chattanooga Railroad.

It was resolved to exhaust the law in order to defeat compulsory bankruptcy.

A Committee was appointed to examine the books and accounts of the Road, and publish a statement of the affairs. Also that Mr. Stanton be appointed Agent to operate the Road and a Financial Agent be appointed to handle the money in the interest of the creditors, debtors, laborers and employees here. A reference committee of three were appointed with whom Stanton could consult and advise in the management of the road. It is believed that if Stanton is allowed to operate, the last dollar will be paid. An extension of one, two and three years is asked, at eight per cent interest upon certain guarantees from Stanton.

A special from Chattanooga says: "I saw a letter from Jefferson Davis to Col. Styles of the Albany (Georgia) News, in which he complains of the manner in which his speeches at Atlanta and Augusta have been misconstrued by the Northern Press. He says he never wished, directly or indirectly, to counsel the Southern people not to tolerate the situation. He thinks they ought to wait patiently till the return of good sense of the Northern people brings about a reversal of the more obnoxious features in the recent Congressional legislation. He disavows most strongly anything like a revival of a grand resistance. There was one part of his Chattanooga speech which was not reported.—Before saying that he did not accept the situation, Davis asked any Northern reporter who might be present to take particular notice of his words, and then said he did not desire to be understood as advising anything like disloyalty to the Government."

THE KU-KLUX COMMITTEE fearing to meet the investigation of individual cases, as reported, are going to meet on a General Report on the subject, made up from letters to Northern papers, and unverified statements of negroes, carpet-baggers, and scoundrels. Such a document will fail to impress the people of the country. But it will show to what desperate means the Radicals will resort, in order to recede General Grant, and keep possession of the treasury of the nation.—Philadelphia Age.

THE authorities have deemed it prudent and politic to deny the report that General Sheridan will be given a command on the Atlantic coast, in connection with an enforcement of the Ku-Klux law. General Sheridan is a favorite of the President's, and the former statement has more body than the denial. General Grant means to use that law to make certain a reelection, and General Sheridan is just the man to do the necessary work in that direction.

Philadelphia Age.

To the Teachers of Calhoun County.

The Board of Directors will meet in Jacksonville on the first Monday in July, and on Wednesday following "the teachers institute," by order of the Board. J. C. MAULEY, Pres. & C. Supt.

June 8th, 1871.

The law makes it a part of the duties of County Superintendents, to create Teachers Institutes, and in obedience to this requirement I invite all the Public Teachers in the county, to meet in Jacksonville, July 5th. We are engaged in a vocation which demands united effort, and frequent consultations.—Mechanics meet and consult for mutual benefit, tradesmen of every class, merchants, ministers, even the Press, and the levers by which education moves the world; all avail themselves of this powerful means, not only for success as a whole, but for individual advancement. And shall we prove sluggish and indifferent, when the success of so many other interests depends upon the manner in which we use ours. At the close of this meeting, all Teachers present whose reports are properly made out, will be promptly paid for the gr. ending June 5th, send your reports for June, by mail to Jacksonville promptly, in time for the meeting of Directors.

J. C. MAULEY, County Superintendent.

Meeting of Delegates of the 10th Ala. Regiment.
According to appointment, on June 22d, 1871, at 2 o'clock the members present in Jacksonville, were called to the Court House by the ringing of the bell.
On motion of Capt. J. M. Renfro, Capt. Frank Woodruff was called to the chair, no senior officer being present at the time. He stated the purpose for which the meeting was called together in some terse and appropriate remarks.
On motion, Lieut. J. W. Heacock and Henry A. Eams were asked to act as Secretaries.
Capt. Renfro, stated, that owing to the fact that the newspapers lying within the jurisdiction of the Regiment had failed to copy the notice of the meeting, as published in the JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN, four companies living at a distance were not consequently notified of the time and therefore not present; but knowing as he well knew that they would acquiesce in anything the remaining six companies of the Regiment might do, he would move the appointment of a committee of one from each company present, to decide upon the place and time for the reunion, to report ad hoc. The following gentlemen were appointed on the committee:
Wm. H. Dean Co. "A." A. P. Clark
Co. "B." L. J. W. Heacock Co. "C."
Capt. James B. Farmer and George L.
Turney Co. "D." Capt. A. T. Martin, Co. "E." Adj. L. W. Grant, Co. "F." (Pro-tem).
During the absence of the committee,
Col. John H. Caldwell was called upon.
He addressed the meeting feelingly, he briefly, occasionally growing eloquent as glorious old memories would lead him, but without uttering a single word about the snatched of "peace" at a time, H. L.
Stevenson was called to the front, and with credit to himself.
The Committee returning, announced that they had decided upon Shelby Springs as the place of general reunion of the Regiment and the 27th day of July as the time.
On motion, Capt. J. M. Renfro and H. L. Stevenson were added to the committee and Col. John H. Caldwell made Chairman of the same. The committee by the same motion was clothed with plenary powers to go ahead and make all arrangements and chalk out the programme for the day of meeting.
On motion the thanks of the meeting were tendered to the JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN and all other newspapers that have heretofore published the notice of our meeting.
The Executive committee made report of progress in their deliberations which will be published at a future day.
It was the expressed wish of the meeting that every member of the Regiment will notify all others of the time and place of meeting.
The Secretaries were instructed to furnish the editor of the JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN with a full copy of the proceedings of the meeting, with a request that he publish the same and that the Gadsden Times, the Cherokee Advertiser, Tallahassee papers, Shelby County Guide and Elyton papers copy from THE RE-PUBLICAN.
Meeting adjourned.

Some days ago Thos. McAdams, a former resident of Jacksonville, shot and killed in Talladega, a man named Kline.
It appears that they both occupied the same house, and that Kline was whipping one of McAdams' children, when he (McAdams) interfered. Kline then turned his attack upon McAdams himself, who killed him, by shooting him.
McAdams surrendered himself to the authorities and was bound over in the sum of $2000.
Next week or the week after we will commence the publication of an illustrated story, that will run through about thirteen numbers of THE REPUBLICAN.
This is for the benefit of those of our readers who are fond of fiction. The scene was laid in England, and the story is absorbingly interesting. The illustrations are well executed, and costs us a considerable sum. As we have gone to the expense, more especially for the benefit of our lady readers, we hope they will exert themselves to send us enough subscriptions to repay us. The story is entitled "For a Woman's Sake." Smith—Jones, where in the world did you get that excellent suit of clothes you are wearing now?
Jones—Why I got it at Rosenberg's, of course and only give $10 for it at that time it was for $20.
Smith—Why I bought the same suit at another store and gave $20 for it.
How is that for low?
On last Saturday the picnic people generally of our pleasant and sociable town betook themselves to that delightful retreat, (thanks to the gentlemen who fixed it up), the Chalybeate springs, one mile east of town at the foot of the mountain range. Of course they enjoyed themselves hugely. With draughts of the pure iron impregnated water, with nibbles from the nicely spread dinner, the rambles of lovers after flowers, the serenades upon the steep sides of the mountain, the noisy mirth of children and the more subdued, but none the less hearty enjoyment of the old people of the party, the day passed delightfully. The picture was such as we only see in paintings, and only words clothed in poetry can describe it. We leave them every few days now.
O, come up from there, you half-baked South Alabamians and catch a breath of our fresh, pure, cold, mountain air, and quaff deep of our health inspiring, pure limpid, ice cold waters. Jacksonville will greet you with open arms to hospitable homes.
P. S.—The picnic we have above spoken of was a grand success as we have said; but it was nothing comparable to the one which followed on Tuesday at the same place. Mr. Henry McDaniel and Mr. Jacob Rosenberg, our new merchant, on hospitable thoughts intent, provided a repast at the spring and invited thither Messrs James Crow and Durham McClendon. The party was very exclusive and the bill of fare recherche, consisting as it did of fashers of Bacon, crackers,
"chilled oysters," BARKERS, and coffee.
The curious would not be entitled to know how much this repast cost the magnificent gentlemen who assumed the role of entertainers. It is enough for them to know that "Spire McDaniel" was possessed that day of his usual appetite, and that the balance came home and cat more for supper than his custom.
Have you seen the latest thing in the line—the "Opera." Rosenberg has them for sale, cheaper than the cheapest for the quality.
Wherefore VICTIMS?—As we were going to press week before last, (absence has prevented earlier mention) we received a very pleasant call from that most sunny and genial of all "old men," (yarden) Col. Cochran, and the liveliest Druggist in Georgia, Dr. Hoyt.
Col. Cochran is probably as well known and as highly esteemed among the people of this portion of Alabama as he is in the immediate country he has contributed so largely to build up. When we say to "build up," we mean to be taken literally.
Rome, particularly, is indebted to him and others like him for the rapid progress she has made in all that goes to make up a populous and wealthy city.
Dr. Hoyt, is of the large Drug establishment of W. D. Hoyt & Co., Rome, Ga., and is in every particular, a fine man, and one of the most agreeable men about his Establishment we have ever met.
Any community with a reasonable sprinkling of such men as Col. Cochran and Dr. Hoyt, will of necessity lead the van in the great march of progress.
Of course, as Rome is now doing, if Rome would but spare us, even if but for a short time, some of her Cothrans her Cohens, her Hoyts, that their energetic influence, like a shock from a galvanic battery, might wake Jacksonville up—that they might take the weights from off her feet and gird her beautiful loins, and spin her with a bound among the swift runners in the race of enterprise, whose goal is wealth, which, under the management of communities so moral and refined as ours, develops itself in Manufactures, Schools, Colleges and beautiful Church structures to the God who has bestowed it upon them.
Through His chosen instruments for this particular work—the live men of the day.
SALE!—Draper & Johnson has just received a large lot of Liverpool Salt, in good order, cheap.
Another proposition, in regard to water, that we have heard, is to hire three negro men to bring it up the hill, from the spring, in blue buckets, and empty the same into a public barrel from which all may partake freely "without money and without price."
TO THE LADIES.—J. Rosenberg would respectfully invite the ladies to call and examine his stock of Hosiery, and Dress Goods, which he is selling very low.

We are able to present our readers better print this week, having received a new roller. We will endeavor hereafter to keep the print at what it is at.
The great and absorbing question now is, whether we shall bring water from the spring on a mule, in bottles, in a mail bag, or whether we will have it from the mountain through iron pipes.
GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS.—

Last week, owing to the absence of the editor, the announcement of E. C.
Teague, Esq., for County Commissioner was left out. We, at the instance of his many friends insert it this week.

moned, by telegraph, to testify before

A Chapter of Facts.
Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore precious in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts, important to the public, into a small compass. Those facts refer to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters—what that celebrated medicine is, and what it will do.
In the first place, then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting of a combination of an absolutely pure spirituous agent with the most valuable medicinal vegetable substances that Do-ctate research has placed at the disposal of the chemist and the physician. These ingredients are compounded with great care, and in such proportions as to produce a preparation which invigorates without exciting the general system, and tonics, regulates and controls the stomach, the bowels, the liver, and the minor secretory organs.
What this great restorative will do must be learned from what it has done.
The case of dyspepsia, or any other form of indigestion in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure, is yet to be heard from, and the same may be said of bilious disorders, intermittent fever, nervous affection, general debility, constipation, sick headache, mental disabilities to which the feebles are so subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the general state, which it imparts to the nervous system is not succeeded by the slightest reaction. This is a chapter of facts which readers, for their own sakes, should mark and remember.
Good News.

Chemistry is furnishing us new agents for fuel, force, food, and many other important uses than those we once possessed.
For instance, the great power of heat, and during the last months of their terrible fevers, are visited all the year with impurity now. Many localities in the South and West, kept tenacious by their deleterious minerals, are now being up with populations under the protection of Ayer's Aqua Cure. Their afflicting chills and fevers are so effectually cured by this remedy, that the disease no longer turns emigration aside, or destroys the settler for the reason of his infected districts.

READING MATTER.
THE DYING NEVER WEEP.—It is a striking fact that the dying never weep. The sobbing, the heart breaking agony of the circle of friends around deathbed, calls forth no responsive tears from the dying. Is it because he is insensible to the chill of dissolution?
That cannot be, for he asks for his father's hand, as if to gain strength in the mortal struggle, and loans on the breast of his mother, sister or brother in still conscious affection. Just before expiring, he calls the loved ones, and with quivering lips says: "Kiss me," and telling that the love he has ever borne in his heart is still fresh and warm.
It must be the dying have reached a point too deep for earthly sorrows too transcendent for weeping.— They are face to face with higher and holier things, with the Father in Heaven and his angels. There is no weeping in that blessed abode to which he is hastening.
A Young man recently wrote to a New York paper, asking whether it would be advisable for him to marry a "young and tender angel" who had never done her own washing or dress making. In reply, the editor advised him to do so by all means, and mentioned a similar case in his own experience, where the bride had never done her own washing, but after marriage she became so fond of the wash-tub, as not only to work for her own family, but for several families among her acquaintances.

Mark Twain's Autobiography.
Orms is a noble old house, and stretches a long way back into antiquity. The earliest ancestor the Twains have any record of was a friend of the family by the name of Higgins.
Arthur Twain was a man of considerable note—a solicitor on the highway in William Rufus' time. At about the age of thirty he went to one of those fine old English places of resort called Newgate, to see about something, and never returned again. While there he died suddenly.
Augustus Twain seems to have made something of a stir about the year 1180. He was as full of fun as he could be, and used to take his old sabre and sharpen it up, and get in a convenient place on a dark night, and stick it through people as they went by, to see them jump.
He was a born humorist. But he got to going too far with it; and the first time he was found stripping one of these parties, the authorities removed one end of him, and put it up on a nice high place on Temple Bar, where it could contemplate the people and have a good time.
He never liked any situation so much or stuck to it so long.
Then for the next two hundred years the family tree shows a succession of soldiers—noble, high-spirited fellows who always went into battle singing, right behind the army, and who always went out a-whopping, right ahead of it.
This is a scathing rebuke to old dead Froissart's poor witicism, that our family tree never had but one limb to it, and that that one stuck out at right angles, and bore fruit winter and summer.
Early in the fifteenth century we have Beau Twain, called "the Scholar." He wrote a beautiful, beautiful hand. And he could instantly anybody's hand so closely that it was enough to make any person laugh his head off to see it. He had infinite sport with his talent.
But by and by he took a contract to break stone for a road, and the roughness of the work spoiled his hand. Still, he enjoyed life all the time he was in the stone business, which, with inconsistent intervals, was some forty-two years. In fact, he died in harness. During all those long years he gave such satisfaction that he never was through with one contract a week till government gave him another.
He was a perfect pet. And he was always a favorite with his fellow-artists, and was a conspicuous member of their benevolent secret society, called the Chain Gang.
He always wore his hair short, had a preference for striped clothes, and died lamented by the government.
He was a sore loss to his country.
For he was so regular.
Pah-go-to-wah-wah-puk-ke-kekee-ee (Mighty-Hunter-with-a-Hog-eye) Twain adorned the middle of the eighteenth century, and aided Gen. Braddock with all his heart to resist the oppressor Washington. It was this ancestor who fired seventeen times at our Washington from behind a tree. So far the beautiful romantic narrative in the moral story-books is correct; but when that narrative goes on to say that at the seventeenth round the awe-stricken savage said suddenly that that man was being reserved by the Great Spirit for some mighty mission, and he dared not lift his sacrilegious rifle against him again, the narrative seriously impairs the integrity of history.
What he did say was:
"It ain't no (hic!) no use! 'At man's so drunk he can't stan' still long enough for a man to hit him.
I (hic!) I can't 'ford to fool away any more an'ition on him!"
The Democratic Candidate.
General George W. McCook, one of the famous "fighting McCooks" of Ohio, has received the nomination of the Democracy for Governor of Ohio. He has long been known in connection with the party in the Buckeye State, and in the National Democratic Conventions of late years has invariably headed the Ohio Delegation. He was born in East Ohio and educated at Steubenville, where he distinguished himself among his fellow-students.
Admitted to the bar at an early age, he speedily gained consideration as a lawyer, but he was called from practice by the breaking out of the Mexican war. McCook went to Mexico as a subaltern and came back as Lieutenant-Colonel of his regiment. He covered himself with distinction during the war, as also did his three brothers, one of whom,
General Robert McCook, was killed in the late civil war. The young soldier resumed his profession in Jefferson county, Ohio, and a few years later was appointed Attorney-General for the State. This, we believe, is the only office he has held. He is one of the ablest lawyers in the West, and a powerful stump-speaker; and, with the exception, perhaps, of Mr. Pendleton, is the most popular of the Democratic statesmen of Ohio.
Rather a good story is told of the former Miss Lane while she was the charming mistress of the Executive Mansion. A photographer, in New York, presented her with an album, superbly bound, containing 42 different views of Miss Lane. Jones remarked, on seeing it one day, that it was the most Miss-Lanous book he had ever seen.
Read the announcement of candidates each week, to see when names are added.

Among the most prominent Democratic papers that have not yet accepted the Dayton Platform with entire satisfaction, we notice the Cincinnati ENQUIRER, Louisville Ledger, Pomeroy's Democrat, New York Day-Book and Terre Haute Journal. The sudden reluctance with which these papers "move up" suggests an expedient which we have seen effectually employed in the army with struggling soldiers on the march—a bayonet puncture four or five inches below the small of the back.
Vincennes Western Sun.
Of course, the nearer you get to the Republican platform, the bayonet comes in your mind, and you instinctively want to use it as a great moral agent. That is what the Democrats complain of in the policy of sham Republicanism.
A dispatch from Montgomery announces that the Alabama and Chattanooga Railroad Company, was on Thursday placed in bankruptcy by Judge Busteed, of the United States District Court. The petition was made by W. A. C.
Jones, an Alabama creditor, whose claim is about fifteen thousand dollars. E. H. Grandin and John F. Bailey are appointed temporary custodians, pending the election of an assignee by the creditors.
THE NORTHERN PACIFIC GIANT.—In their advertisement the Directors of the North Pacific Railroad say that if they only get $2 50 per acre for their lands, the proceeds will construct and equip the whole road and leave $25,000,000 in the treasury besides. If they sell at $1 per acre, they can build and equip the road with one-half the lands, and after paying for everything have 25,000,000 acres left to hold for higher prices. But, in fact, they expect to realize an average of $10 per acre, which will give them a complete road and about $480,000,000! Was there ever in the history of the world such an enormous robbery of the people by their representatives?—S. F. Examinee.

JACKSONVILLE REPUBLICAN

JACKSONVILLE, ALABAMA.

SATURDAY, JUNE 24, 1871.

We have just been shown a letter from the President of the East Alabama & Cincinnati Railroad Company, dated the 19th inst., to one of our citizens; which states that on the 9th of June, the Board of Directors of the Coosa & Tennessee Railroad Company, passed a resolution proposing to consolidate their road with East Alabama & Cincinnati Railroad Company.

The Board of Directors of the last company on the 12th of June, formally accepted the proposition. The letter further states:—This done, we have contractors ready to take hold, and build from Guntersville to Jacksonville, in twelve months. * * The prospects of our whole road, were never as bright as now. We have 191 miles of iron laid down, and expect to finish the 20 miles in two days. That leaves a gap of about seventy miles to reach Jacksonville. The moral support, and a little material aid from the country through which we are to pass, will enable us to complete the whole road from Opelika to Guntersville, within two or three years, when we shall have a splendid freight line."

But one more step is to be taken, and these two roads will be merged or consolidated, that is, to submit the action of the two companies to a separate vote of the Stock holders of each company, for their approval. This will be done at once, and we trust no one will oppose it.

The consolidation of these two companies, is a wise stroke, it secures the completion of the road from Opelika to Guntersville. Without this action, both would be a failure. When united, onward will be the march to final completion. The road must not, and will not stop at Guntersville—it will be extended to a connection with the Memphis & Charleston Railroad, and Nashville & Chattanooga Road.

[For the Jacksonville Republican.]
CALHOUN COLLEGE.

Mr. Editor: In your last issue, among many other interesting items of news, I find one in regard to our recently projected institution of learning, which has given me little pleasure. I congratulate the Board of Trustees, and the citizens of Jacksonville, on the appointment of a corps of instructors so eminently qualified to fill the positions to which they have been called. I can not doubt that so arduous a beginning augurs well for the future of our College. Col. FORTUNE's reputation, both as a scholar and an administrative officer, is surpassed by that of no man in our country. A refined, cultivated gentleman, he is at once a model and guide, to whose instructions any community may be proud to commit its sons.

Possessing warm and generous sensibilities combined with a firmness of purpose that never compromises with wrong, we may be sure that the discipline of the institution will be just what it ought to be—neither so severe as to blunt the moral sensibilities, nor so lax as to allow juvenile offences to go unpunished.

As to Prof. RICHARDSON, I make no question, from the many sources of information in regard to his qualifications which the Board possessed, that he is in every way qualified to be associated with Col. FORTUNE in the school. A graduate of our own State University, while it was under the Presidency of the late incomparable Dr. MARX, and having given himself for many years to the profession of teaching, he comes amongst us with every claim upon our confidence and respect, and I doubt not will receive from our entire community, that cordial welcome which distinguishes talents, and moral worth should ever command from appreciative patrons and friends.

As to Gen. FORTNEY, I may only say, that his reputation as an educated gentleman, as a man whose talents would advance any station in life, is so well known and so widely appreciated, that his name is a tower of strength in our infant institution. Let the citizens of Jacksonville do their duty, and the time is not distant when the spacious halls of our new and commodious building will be crowded with students.

A. CITIZEN.

[From the Selma Times.]
The University of Alabama.

The wires on yesterday brought us news that will send a thrill of joy through the bosom of every Alabamian that has not sold himself to the "fools and thieves" who have held sway since the bayonets of "the best government the world ever saw" has enforced "distasteful status." The University of our State stands redeemed, and with erect heads and proud hearts we can look the world in the face and say that Alabama will no longer be forced to send her sons to other States to be educated.

The Board of Regents have selected wisely, and have presented an array of names for the Faculty second to those of no institution of Learning in the United States. Rising from her ashes Phoenix "like" the old University has plumed her wings for a nobler flight, and her Alumni will again visit the sacred fountains from which they drank of the "Fountain Springs" as in days of yore. Let Alabamians now patronize their University. Tuscaloosa is delightfully located, and with a full corps of students and such an array of talent in the Faculty, as is presented, the old Institution will soon re-establish itself in the hearts of our people. The thanks of our State will go to Hodgson for his successful effort in redeeming our University.

Grant's Exorable English.

[From the World.]
At the Morse celebration on Saturday the following letter from President Grant was read:

Plans made previous to the receipt of your invitation will prevent my acceptance, but do not prevent my appreciation of the services rendered to science and the wants of commerce, trade and the distinguished men in whose honor you meet.

It is gratifying to learn that the President's "plans" do not "prevent him" from knowing that Morse invented the electric telegraph, and that the invention was worth making. It would be interesting to know whether it is the President's "plans" which have "prevented" him from learning how to use the English language. England periodically wars against the jargon of the Queen's speeches. But the gibberish of President Grant is his own, while Victoria's Ministers are responsible for her syntax and her stilted phrases.

Kindness is Never Lost.

Elliot Barrett illustrates this maxim with the following story:
A poor, coarse featured old woman lived on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio Railway, where it passes through a wild, unpeopled district of Western Virginia. She was a widow with only one daughter, living with her in a log hut, near a deep precipitous gorge, crossed by the Railway bridge. Here she contrived to support herself by raising and selling poultry and eggs, adding berries in their seasons, and other little articles for the market. She had to make a long weary walk of many miles to a town where she could sell her basket of produce. The Railway passed by her house to this town; but the ride would cost too much of the profits of her small sales, so she trudged on generally to the market on foot. The conductor came finally to notice her walking by the side of the line or between the rails; and, being a good-natured, benevolent man, he would often give her a ride to and from without charge. The engineer and brakemen were also good to the old woman, and felt they were not wronging the interests of the Railway company by giving her these free rides. And so, an accident occurred that proved that they were quite right in this view of the matter.

In the wild month of March, the rain descended and the mountains sent down their rolling, roaring torrents of melted snow and ice into this gorge, near the old woman's hut. The flood arose with the darkness of the night, until she heard the crash of the Railway bridge, as it was swept from its abutments, and dashed its broken timbers against its crazy sides of the precipice on either side. It was nearly midnight. The rain fell in a flood, and the darkness was deep and howling with the storm. In another half hour the express train would be due. What could she do to warn it against the awful destruction it was approaching? She had hardly a whole candle in her house; and no light she could make of tallow or oil, if she had it, would live a moment in that tempest of wind and rain. Not a moment was to be lost; and her thought was equal to the moment. She cut the cord of her only belted, and shouldered the dry posts, side-pieces, and head pieces.

Her daughter followed her with her two wooden chairs. Up the steep embankment they climbed, and piled all their household furniture upon the line a few rods before the black, awful chasm, gurgling with the roaring flood. The distant rumbling of the train came upon them just as they had fired the well-dried combustibles. The pile blazed up into the night, throwing its red, swelling, booming light a long way up the track. In fifteen minutes it would begin to wane, and she could not revive it with green, wet wood. The thunder of the train grew louder. It was within five miles of the fire. Would they see it in time? They might not put on the brakes soon enough. Awful thought! She tore her red handkerchief from her mouth, and tying it to the end of a stick, ran up the track, waving it in both hands, while her daughter swung round her head a blazing chair post a little before. The lives of a hundred unconscious passengers hung on the issue of the next minute. The ground trembled at the old woman's feet. The great, red eye of the engine burst upon her as it came round a curve. Like a huge, sharp-sighted lion coming suddenly upon a fire, it sent forth a thrilling roar, that filled all the wild heights and ravines around. The train was at full speed; but the brakemen wrestled at their leverage with all the strength of desperation.

The wheels ground along on the heated rails slower and slower until the engine stopped at the decaying fire. It still blazed enough to show them the beetling edge of the black abyss into which the train and all its passengers would have plunged, and into a death and destruction too horrible to think of, had it not been for the old woman's signal.

They did not stop to thank her first for the deliverance. The conductor knelt down by the side of the engine; the engine driver and the brakemen came and knelt down by him; all the passengers came and knelt down by them; and there, in the expiring light of the burnt-out pile, in the rain and wind, they thanked God for the salvation of their lives. All in a line the kneelers and prayers sent up into the dark heavens such a midnight voice of thanksgiving as seldom, if ever, ascended from the earth to Him who seeth in darkness as well as in secret.

Kindness is the music of good-will to men; and on this harp the smallest fingers may play heaven's sweetest tunes on earth.

SOUTHERN NEWS.

Virginia made 65,000 gallons of fruit brandy last year.

Florida promises to become a large producer of sugar.

The wheat crop of North Georgia is turning out badly.

The Texas Legislature meets again on the 12th of September.

The Virginia Tobacco Fair is to be held this year at Petersburg.

The cotton crop of middle Georgia promises to be very small, and planters are gloomy.

It is estimated that 20,000 boxes of peaches will be shipped from Aiken, South Carolina, this season.

The commencement exercises of the Mississippi University begin on the 25th inst., and end on the 29th.

For the first time since June, 1870, just a year ago, middling cotton sold in the Memphis market Tuesday at 20 cents.

According to the late census, Georgia has a greater colored population than any other State in the Union. Virginia comes next, then Alabama.

Census returns of Pitt county, North Carolina, shows that there are some ten or fifteen persons in that county who are from 100 to 119 years old.

Over eight thousand head of cattle crossed the Brazos at Waco, Texas, during the week ending June 7, bringing into the treasury of the bridge company nearly $500.

The Palestine (Texas) Advocate says there will be an abundant crop of fruit in that portion of Texas. Plum, peach, pear and apple trees are breaking down with their own weight.

The 4th of July in Richmond, Va., is to be glorified by a tournament at the fair grounds. The gate-money to be appropriated to the removal of the Confederate dead from Gettysburg and Arlington.

As an inducement for the negroes of Washington, to vote the Radical ticket, at the late election in that territory, they were told that in case the Legislature was elected, they would abolish the contract system for public work, and give them all work at two dollars for every week's work of eight hours. They did no such thing, and the innocent negroes struck for what they were promised. The consequence is that other laborers are put in their places, and the blacks denied even the smaller wages they had before. And so they are deluded and deceived by the Radicals all the time. Their votes are wheeled out of them on a promise or through fear, and afterwards they are turned adrift.

The Southern blacks were promised by these very men forty acres and a mule apiece, but as soon as their votes were secured they were forgotten. They ought by this time to have learned a lasting lesson. Philadelphia Age.

THE BALLAD OF LILY FAY.

She was fair, and sweet and kindly,
Lily Fay!
In her youth she loved him blindly—
Well-a-day!
But he stopped to linger only
For an hour,
As a breeze will kiss, then lonely Leave a flower.

For he said, "I may not tarry;
Though she's fair,
It were most unwise to marry,
And well care,
Love is sweet, but freedom's sweeter
And I'm poor!
It were best to fly, and meet her Never more."

So he fled—without a presage—
Arthur Bane!
Not one farewell word or message Soothed her pain!
Fled—and days and years went over Lillian wan,
Waiting, watching for her lover, Wandering on!

Till at length there came a letter—
Ah, the sting!
He had loved but now thought better
Of the thing.
He was poor—less brave than others Would she not Forgive, forget, and share another's Happier lot?

Back soon came the answer chilling, (Oh torn heart!)
She was ready, happy, willing Thus to part;
So the years rolled onward thronging Till again
O'er that youthful dream fell long—
Arthur Bane!

He returned, returned to meet her Fairer yet;
Paler, graver, but still sweeter
Through regret.
As he watched the vivid flushes
"Nath the curl,
"She loves yet," he said, "she blushes,
Dearest girl!"

Hand in hand he fondly told her How much more
Loved she was in passion older Than before;
And besought her madly, boldly—
Well-a-day!
For the hand once slighted coldly
In life's May!

She look'd up with arch disporting,
But no pain—
"Are you not too poor for courting, Mr. Bane?"
Then with blushing laughter,
"Maybe
You're aware
That's my husband and my baby Coming there!"

PENELOPE.

BY F. BRET HARTE.

(Simpson's Bar, 1858.)
So you've come 'yer agon
And answer me 't do?
Well, of all the dorned men
That I've struck, it is you O, Sal 'yer that dorned fool from Simpson's,
Cavortin round 'yer in the dew

Ken in eff you will
That—quif! Take a cheer
Not that you can't fill Them there cushions this year—
For that cheer was old man's Joe Simpson,
And they don't make such men about 'yer.

He was tall, was my Jack,
And as strong as a tree;
That's his gun on the rack—
Just you heft it, and see!
And you come a courtin' his widder,
Lord! where can that critter, Sal, be?

You'd fill my Jack's place?
And a man of your size—
With no haird to his face,
Nor a snap to his eyes—
And nary—Shol! that! I was fool-in', I was,
Joe, for sartin—don't rise.

Sit down. Law, why! Sho!
I'm as weak as a gal,
Sal! Don't you go, Joe,
Or I'll faint—sure, I shall!
Sit down—anywhere, where you like, Joe—
In that cheer if you choose.
Lord! where's Sal?

Sure—The manner in which the New Englanders are enabled to put the screws to the people of the country by means of this protective tariff, says the Exchange, is strikingly illustrated by the isolated case of wool screws. The duty on this article, "less than two inches, eleven cents per pound." A pound of inch or three-quarter-inch wool screws can be bought in England for eight or nine cents. The duty upon the duty from 125 to 150 per cent. The smaller sizes are prohibited. The entire importation of these screws last year was only $220,000 worth. In 1861 according to the returns of the Internal Revenue office the total home production of this article was $1,225,920. Since then the production has increased to about $2,000,000 worth, nearly the whole of which comes from Rhode Island. Thus while the people pay to the Government $200,000 a year for the duty on the screws, the manufacturers about $1,000,000 subsidy. This is the way the tariff puts the screws to the people.

The New York Sun has hoisted the following Presidential ticket as the "People's" candidates: "For President, William S. Groesbeck, of Ohio. For Vice-President, John Quincy Adams, of Massachusetts."

Dec. 14, 1869.

WHEREAS, by an act of the General Assembly of the State of Alabama, approved the 10th day of October, 1864, it is provided as follows to-wit: "It shall be the duty of the Probate Judge of each county in this State to designate a newspaper in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said county, shall be published; which paper so designated shall be the official organ in and for said county."

And in obedience to the requirements of said act, I, as Judge of Probate for Calhoun County, Alabama, do hereby designate the "St. Clair County Eagle," as the official organ in and for said County of Calhoun, and for said County of Calhoun, all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published, said designation to remain until repealed or changed by me.

And the "Jacksonville Republican," being a County paper, published in the Town of Jacksonville, Alabama, and in my opinion, clearly within the provisions of said act, I therefore recede and change my order designating the St. Clair County Eagle, as the official organ for said County of Calhoun, and designate the said Jacksonville Republican as the official organ hereafter, in which all legal advertisements, notices or publications of any and every character required by law to be made in and for said County of Calhoun shall be published, said designation to remain so long as in my opinion, the Editor of said Jacksonville Republican condescends to publish paper so as to be within the provisions of said act.

Mr. Editor:

JUNE 22nd, 1871.

You didn't go to the picnic yesterday—we did. You missed a splendid day; a gal-orous time, enjoyed ourselves much. We are very sorry that you're an editor, and a married man, and couldn't "go and do likewise."

Pic-nics are pretty things anyhow—best camp-meetings all hollow. Oh, it was chichest among ten thousand, and altogether jolly.

We are surprised at any one's lack of taste and appreciation of the "good things of this life," in refusing to accept such oceans of fun, pleasure, and real enjoyments, when 'tis within his reach, held out in such an inviting manner, in such unlimited quantities and of such an unexceptionable quality. It seems strange to us, as we glance back, over the occurrences of the day, the pleasant drive to the springs, the dinner, the quiet "tete-a-tete" with our sweethearts, out on the old moss covered log, hunting the "turtle," the drive back, (each in itself worth an eternity of aimless existence) that so much happiness could be crowded into one single day. We left town at nine o'clock "en-route" for Sulphur springs, (owned by the whole-souled hospital and gentlemanly Mr. Schenck) —found Tallulahatchie so full, that the young men got their feet wet in crossing —had to "take something"—(took it from a pocket case with wicked cover) to keep from "catching cold," you know.

Under way again, friend M—'s horse, showed us a few tricks (that would rival, if not eclipse "Mungie's") celebrated "trick horse," that he got from the Methodist preacher. He was at last prevailed to move on in the event tenor of his way.

Arrived at the springs, we found that Jacksonville had gathered there (part of) her beauty and her "chivalry"—lots of beauty—"chivalry" scarce—bewitching dancers looked happy and smiled about, "winks" or "nods" and wandered off to the flowery banks of the creek to "look for turtles." The hunt was kept up at the young ladies was the successful finder.
The "turtle" once belonged to a "noble line." 'Twas the "last of the Beiborns."

Then came dinner. Every lassie had her laddie. Lasses and laddies traded into the cat-bags as if they liked them.
We need not tell you, how the turkey and tumblers of jelly, pies and pickles, cakes and chipped beef, sardines and salads, chickens and confections, lobsters and lemonade, &c. &c., disappeared.
"You know how it is yourself." But the longest days must have an end—ours did anyhow. We reached town just as the little stars were peeping out. Our prayer is, that we may have one more such pic-nic, ere we die.

Yours and the pic-nickers,
A. T. URTLE.

A CRIME FOR THE K. K. COM-MITTEE.—On Tuesday a lot of negroes came into town bringing as a prisoner a genuine Ku-Klux with his mask and fixings. He was one of a party of three who were charged with marauding around generally in disguise. The other two escaped. This one caught is a pure, unadulterated negro.

C. P. Gersfeld, formerly a reputable and prosperous citizen, shot himself while playing dominoes through the head.

The above we clip from the Associated Press Dispatches of the Rome Commemcrat. The question is, whether the fellow was playing dominoes through his head; or shot himself through his head.

Old man Dennis Dykones, of the Decatur Republic, credits Mrs. Mien-dewer with always waiting for "something to turn up." We had hitherto supposed that it was Mister Mien-dewer who was always looking with such patient hopefulness for that "something" to "turn up." Oh, Dennis Dennis, your education has been sadly neglected.

There will be a grand pic-nic at George White's "Mountain View," on Thursday, the 5th day of July. Come one, come all.

MARRIED.—at the residence of Dr. J.
Y. Nisbet, in this place, on the 10th inst., by Rev. Mr. McLean, Hon. A. J.
Walker, of Montgomery and Miss Clara Nisbet, of Jacksonville, Ala.

A Four Murder.
Probably by the time that this paper is circulated John Borden, an esteemed citizen of this portion of country, a resident of Cleburne county and the father of the principal of Oxford College, will have breathed his last. He was the victim of one of the foulest attempts at murder we have ever read of.
He was known to have in possession about one thousand dollars that he was taking to Rome with him. The instrument used was a club. The supposed murderer is a negro. He was captured once but escaped. The last heard from him, his pursuers were close on him with a pack of "negro dogs."

To Families.
The undersigned will, from this date, grind all wheat or corn left at Draper & Johnson's corner, in plainly marked sacks, for the toll.
He will take the same to the mill and return it to Draper & Johnson's in the proper sacks without extra charge.

ISAAC SEYMOUR.

BUSINESS IS BUSINESS.

The summer is passing, and beef will spoil without salt. In addition to the receipt of salt, we have just received a lot of Hoop-skirts of the best style. Then we have Hoop-skirts and Liverpool salt for sale.

Special Notices:
A Chapter of Facts.
Space is valuable in a newspaper, and it is therefore proposed in this advertisement to condense a variety of facts,
important to the public, into a small compass. These facts refer to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is a celebrated medicine, and what it will do.
In the first place, then, the article is a stimulant, tonic and alterative, consisting
of a combination of an absolutely pure syrup of the most valuable medicinal herbs, and a small quantity of the most valuable of the chemist and the physician.
These ingredients are compounded with great care, and in such proportions as to produce a beneficial result, without exhausting the general system, and without exciting the stomach, and the bowels, the liver, and the minor secretory organs.

What this great restorative will do
must be gathered from what it has done.
The case of dyspepsia, or any other form
of indigestion in which it has been persistently administered without effecting a radical cure, is yet to be heard from, and the same may be said of biliousness, intermittent fever, nervous affections,
general debility, constipation, sick headache, mental disabilities to which the fever is subject. It purifies all the fluids of the body, including the blood, and the gastric stimulus which it imparts
to the nervous system is not succeeded by
the slightest reaction. This is a chapter of facts which readers, for their own sakes, should mark and remember.

Wash, and will be found the only specific remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affec

NEAR CEDAR BLUFF Feb. 28, 1871

Messrs. J. & S. BONES, Dear Sir:
I have given the 16 inch Mill (Clemans) bought of you, a thorough test, and but express myself perfectly satisfied. The power was the running year to me, which although in very bad order, was sufficient to grind one bushel (by the way in eleven minutes, I find no trouble to do my grinding before breakfast. Several neighbors were present at the time, and all were satisfied with the result, we were astonished at the quantity and fine quality of the meal produced in so short time. I prefer the meal to any steam mill meal. The 16 inch mill I bought of you for the Foster Farm, and used since the above was written proves equally satisfactory. It is a complete mill.

Yours Truly,
H. H. MILLER
